EDITORIAL COMMENT

of the valuable information increased size of this issue of the Kentuckian is due to the efforts of H. L. Hunt and Mr. Wyatt. The newspaper men of the past and progressive have joined forces with us to make the Kentuckian a valuable to the community more than it has been in the past. Mr. Hunt's specialty is sub-building and he will call on all of the county in the inter-circulation department in future. Both Major Hunt and Mr. Thompson are writers and men of ability, and any man in their work will be benefited by the Kentuckian.

A Negro of the Exodus.

The exodus last year of the colored people from the South to the North has attracted the attention of most of the people of the country. They have looked upon it as a movement, a tendency, a matter to be theorized about.

What effect has it had on the negro of the exodus? This point of view of the negro himself has entirely escaped attention. And, after all, he is the one who is chiefly concerned.

Governor Bilbo, of Mississippi, has received a letter from one of the negroes who came to the North as to land of promise. It throws light on the movement from the colored people's point of view:

Mr. Bill Bo: Sir: This is my first time in life to address a governor and it makes me a little nervous. But feeling you look over what I want to say is here in St. Louis, Mo., with my children and wife and I want to thank you in the Sunny South. But is it possible. Also I would like to know how many of my color how would fare up here. Winter is coming and I do not find it as they say. Now I work and live in Memphis, Miss., last year and done working for Mr. William Hunter. Mr. H. Warren. I found them to be good white men and I all so a little work for Mrs. and Mr. Johnson, the judge, and had to eat. But Governor just I am here in St. Louis today being part of the time by the St. Louis Poverty association also there are hundreds of colored people expecting back this fall. I am a laboring man but we got sick every one of us, we are up again. Many things I tell you but has not space but you will instruct your servant and placed you in a high office. I beg for an early reply. Your Sr., HENRY MUNN.

fact is that however much we condemn the South for the lynch-ing yet the people there understand colored man and are sympathetic to him. They are "good white men" to "good black folks."

The South has not solved the negro problem but they are in much better way of doing it than their censorious critics of the North. — Evansville Courier.

Clarence Harned Admits That He Killed Him Sunday Morning.

FOUND 4 P. M. MONDAY

Slayer Alleges That McCurt Insulted His 11-Year-old Daughter.

The body of J. D. McCurt, a farmer of the Honey Grove neighborhood, was found late Monday afternoon, hanging across a wire fence on the Dennis Perry place on the Butler road and Clarence Harned is held under bond to the grand jury, having come to this city and surrendered to sheriff Smith Tuesday morning. Harned and McCurt met Sunday morning at the home of Rufus King where a heated altercation occurred, and it is alleged that Harned struck McCurt on the head with a wagon standard. He did not appear to be seriously hurt and declined Mr. King's offer to take him home. He started out for his home on foot. Mr. King thought that McCurt had reached home and McCurt's family thought he was still at King's. The body was not found till late Monday afternoon, when Mr. Campbell, who owns the Perry farm, saw the body hanging on the fence, as he went to the pasture for his cattle.

It is reported that Harned accused McCurt of insulting his 11-year-old daughter and that the altercation at King's was due to this accusation. This McCurt denied at the time, but Harned, it is said, hit him four times with a wagon standard, one blow fracturing his skull. He had spent Saturday night at Harned's house. After breakfast he went to King's to get his horse to go home and soon after Harned came and the trouble ensued. Harned has made no statement. McCurt was 60 years of age and leaves a widow and several children. He came here 8 years ago from Illinois. Harned is 35 years old and has a family. McCurt's body was buried in the neighborhood Tuesday.

At the examining trial before Judge Knight yesterday, Mr. Harned was held to the grand jury. He executed bond in the sum of $5,000.

GEN. WILLIAMS
PLEASSED

Site Inspected by General Staff Officers On Sunday.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Aug. 28— "There's nothing the matter with Camp Shelby that I can see. It looks like a splendid site to me and all the natural conditions surrounding it appear to be most favorable."

This was the statement of Brig. Gen. Roger D. Williams, of Lexington, Ky., commander of the depot brigade of Camp Shelby, after an inspection of the camp in company with Maj. Gen. W. H. Sage and Brig. Gen. W. H. Whitney.

TYPHOID VICTIM.

Mrs. Edith Williams, wife of Capt. A. H. Williams, of Finley, O., died Tuesday afternoon at the Jennie Stuart Hospital. Mr. Williams came here with the company furnishing the carnival attractions at the fair and was accompanied by his wife, who was ill of typhoid fever. Her condition was such that it was decided to place her in the hospital. Mrs. Williams was 23 years old. The remains will probably be sent to her former home.

BIG FAIR IN FULL SWING

First Day's Attendance Was All That Could Be Asked.

PLENTY OF RACE HORSES

Fine Exhibits in Every Department and Attendance Is Gratifying.

The fourth annual meet of the Pennyroyal fair began Tuesday to continue through the week. The first day's attendance was the best ever known. The exhibits are splendid in every department and, with favorable weather prevailing, indications point to a highly successful week. More race horses are entered than at any previous fair and yesterday afternoon's contests were fine. Summaries for Tuesday:

2:30 trot, mile heat, three in five, purse $300:
Sledgemere (George Stiles).....1 1 1
Golden Rush (S. Malcomson).....2 3 3
Dr. Buskley.....3 3 2
Haliabas (Thompson).....4 4 4
Best time 2:17.

Free for all pace, mile heats, three in five, purse $300.

Verile Patchen (T. H. Posey).....1 1 1
Tony B. (W. G. Morgan).....2 3 3
Dr. Griffin (George Stiles).....4 2 2
Charley C. (Ed Williams).....3 4 4
Best time, 2:16 3-4.

Running, three-eighths mile dash, purse $100.

Tom Murphy (W. M. Cawley) first; Dan Graw (J. H. Hubbard) second; Jessie Light (P. Swain) third. Verena also ran. Time, 1:15.

Running, five-eighths mile dash, purse $100; Dan Graw (J. H. Hubbard) first; El Sabillo (T. B. Waters) second; Jim Jeffries (Perry Thomas) third. Milon also ran. Time, 1:04.

Yesterday's program began with the weather cloudy and cool, but otherwise there was nothing to interfere with the success. The morning shows consisted of rings in Angus and Hereford cattle, stallions, roadsters and 5-gaited and 3-gaited horses.

The speed rings were the 2:19 trot and 2:25 pace and two running races. The awards had not been announced at the press hour.

The programs for the running days are the best of the week and if the weather clerk will be kind the financial end will swing round all right.

Negro Held Over.

Douglass Green, the negro arrested at Hinsleytown, charged with shooting at Preston Taylor, another negro, had his examining trial before Judge Knight and was held over to the grand jury. Failing to make bond of $250, Green was returned to jail.

WILSON CHOSEN AS ALLIES'
SPOKESMAN IN PAPAL REPLY

To the Great Court of Mankind President Tells How Foe Has Bathed a Continent With the Blood of Women and Children and Helpless Poor.

PLEDGE OF GOVERNMENT WORTHLESS

No Peace Can Be Based on a Recuperating Germany---She Would Hasten to Disrupt New-born Russia---America, in Spite of Wrongs, Wants No Reprisals, Washington, Aug. 29.—President Wilson has rejected the pope's peace proposals.

In a note dispatched last night and made public here tonight the president says that while every heart not blinded and hardened by the terrible war must be touched by the moving appeal of his holiness, it would be folly to take the path of peace he points out if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes.

To deal with such a power as the present rulers of Germany upon Pope Benedict's plan, declares the president, would involve a recuperation of the strength and renewal of the world domination of that power, balked but not defeated after sweeping a continent with the blood of innocent women and children and the helpless poor as well as of soldiers.

Permanent peace must be based upon the faith of all the peoples and upon justice and fairness and the common rights of mankind, he adds, and "we cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting."

Deaths at W. S. Hospital.

Miss Madie Hayder, of Daviess county, died at the Western State Hospital Tuesday of tuberculosis, aged 33 years. She was received here in June, last. The remains were sent to Owensboro.

Mrs. Jane Hobdy, of Ohio county, died of exhaustion, aged 68 years. She had been in the institution about three years.

Miss Annie Hogan, of Graves county, died August 26, of Bright's disease, aged 58 years. She had been here about 18 years.

Thirty-five Conversions.

The pastor, Rev. Frank M. Wilson, assisted by Rev. E. W. Barnett, of Fredonia, closed a ten days' meeting at Locust Grove last Tuesday night, with thirty-five conversions and additions to the church, besides four by letter.—Cadiz Record.

LETTER TO COMMITTEEMEN

Sent Out by Local Committee of The Council of Defense.

You have been appointed a member of the local committee of the State Council of Defense, and a meeting has been called by the Christian County Committee to meet at Hopkinsville, Ky., at the court house on the 3d day of September, (county court day) for the purpose of making a thorough organization of Christian county and for the purpose of putting on a campaign in the state of Kentucky, with a view of arousing the people to their duty in the serious war that this country is now engaged in.

The object of this meeting is to bring all members of this committee and all other organizations into co-operation for this great work that confronts us. The country is at war and our boys and young men are being called to the colors, and it is the duty of every man and woman in this nation to enlist for any work they may be called upon to do at home, in order that we may stand behind the men that are called to the front. It is believed by those best posted and in authority that whenever Germany is awakened to the fact that the people all over this land are standing shoulder to shoulder behind the armies of this nation, that Germany will sue for peace on honorable lines.

Christian county is a large county, and we want to let the people of this state know, and we want to let our nation know, that this great county is ready and willing to do her part in support of the armies of this nation, who will fight for our freedom and independence.

We would be glad if you would interest yourself in getting a large number of the citizens of your community to attend this meeting. We will be glad to hear from you on this subject.

Yours sincerely,
J. B. ALLENSWORTH.
S. L. COWHERD;
A. L. BURKHOLDER.

GUESTS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED

Misses Lillian and Jean Torian, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Torian, of near Gracey, entertained a number of their friends with a house-party from last Thursday until Monday. Those present were: Misses Birdie McAllister, of Palatka, Fla.; Ruth Proctor, of Howell; Berthyne Bartley, Hopkinsville; Ima Hopson, Mary Lee Brame, Mary Gaines, Kathleen Smith and Abbie Meacham, Gracey. On Thursday night a social was given the young people, about forty being present on the delightful occasion. Saturday afternoon the members of the house-party, together with a number of their friends, enjoyed a swimming bee.

Last Day of Grace.

Inmates of the resorts in Louisville's redlight district will be required to vacate that section to-morrow at midnight, and those who fail to find visible means of support will be liable to arrest if they appear upon the streets after that time, under a drastic and sweeping order issued by Chief of Police Lindsey to members of the police department.

STORM IN FLANDERS

New Position Wrested From Austrians and Heavy Assaults Are Repulsed.

RUSSIANS QUIT TRENCHES

Without Waiting for Attack They Flee Artillery Fire on Bessarabian Frontier.

The fighting fronts, except in the Austro-Italian theatre and in eastern Bukovina and southern Moldavia show a remarkable abatement in the violence of the fighting that has been going on for several weeks. Along the front in Flanders and northern France held by the British had weather again has set in and aside from reciprocal bombardments, which at some points have reached the stage of drum fire, and minor infantry operations on the part of the British, little is being done by either of the belligerents.

In the Verdun sector the Germans have ceased entirely their counter-attacks against the newly won French positions, evidently having found that the task of trying to rehabilitate themselves was useless. The infantry of both sides have remained in their trenches and only on the western bank of the Meuse has there been even artillery activity.

On the Bainsizza plateau, north of Gorizia, the Italians and Austrians are still engaged in furious battle, with the Italians the aggressors, but with the Austrians strongly on the defense. New positions have been won by Gen. Cadorna's forces and heavy Austrian attacks to regain lost ground have been successfully repulsed. Silence is still maintained by the Rome war office concerning the operations on the Corso plateau.

On the frontier of Bessarabia in eastern Bukovina, the Russian troops again are showing signs of disaffection, having near Boyany deliberately quit their trenches and retreated east, the Austro-Germans taking the trenches they quitted.

In lower Moldavia, in the region of Fokshani, height positions have been taken from the Bulgarians.

There is no report of fighting in Russia, indicating that the activity near Riga was not an effort to capture the naval base.

OPEN SEASON
ON DOVES

September 1 To October 15, Both Dates Inclusive.

It is unlawful to kill more than 15 doves in any one day. Some shooters have the impression if they go shooting one day and do not kill the bag limit, they can make up this deficiency on the next day, and others think they can, after securing the bag limit, assist their friends in securing their bag limit, both of which are violations.

SQUIRRELS—It is lawful to kill squirrels from July 1 to December 15, both date inclusive. Heretofore the squirrel law closed on the 15th day of September and opened again on November 15th, and ran to February 1st of the following year, but this was changed by the last Act of the Legislature.

It is unlawful to hunt except on your own land without license. License good only during the year in which issued.

Will go To California.

G. B. Croft, who resides one mile west of the city, has sold his farm of 98 acres to John Marquess, of Sinking Fork, possession to be given January 1, next. Mr. Croft and family will move to Los Angeles, Calif., in the fall to make their future home.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink
it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Thedford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Thedford's Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work.

Keeping One's Temper.

If you get mad because things
don't go your way it is a pretty good sign that your way is not the true way. It very often happens that a man's good intentions are tainted and ruined because he becomes incensed
when others do not agree with him.
A true service keeps one kind and friendly. Whenever we see among our correspondents one who is greatly irritated at another and attempts to burn tar on him, we feel quite sure
the doctrine he espouses is all wrong, says the Ohio State Journal. When we read a contribution in a controversy we throw it aside immediately upon seeing an angry thrust, for we say to ourself truth does not act that way. When a man asks us to do something we don't feel inclined to do and gets mad at our refusal, then we are quite certain we did just right. They are weak persons who act a certain way simply because they are asked to.
One should always have a faith in what he does.

National Forest Helping Increase of Meat Supply

Washington, Aug. 27.—As a war emergency measure the National Forest ranges are carrying this summer
approximately 100,000 more cattle and 200,000 more sheep than in ordinary years, according to the grazing experts of the Forest Service. Ordinarily the National Forests furnish pasturage for about 1,800,000 cattle and horses and 7,800,000 head of sheep.

The number of livestock permitted
on the Forests is limited in order to prevent damage to timber growth,
water supplies, and the range itself.
This year exceptional weather conditions combined with the general food situation to create an unusual emergency, called for special provisions to take care of the stock. A severe winter and late spring exhausted the hay supply and forced use of the spring ranges before they had reached their normal state. To lessen the losses which the western livestock industry faced, the National Forest ranges were opened early. At the same time, the number of stock permitted for the present season was raised to the maximum consistent with safeguarding future productivness.

Great Men Died Learning.

It is well to remember that the very greatest men died learning, like Bacon and Pasteur. Socrates was entering old age when he drank the hemlock, but I do not think anyone would say that his last words were, therefore, of no worth. The greatest benefactions to humanity, the greatest services to human thought have not all been bestowed or rendered by men under twenty-five or even under forty years of age, a fact sometimes worthy of remembrance. Do not, then, fall victims to over-confidence and close your mind. The injunction is as important for youth as for age; easy of attainment for the former, difficult for the latter; possibly for both. The past and the present, youth and age, new and old, all have their place in the sun; all are needed for the widest learning, for the highest achievement,
for the best development of mankind.

Her Memory Faulty.

She was middle-aged, stylishly gowned and apparently sane. And she was looking at the paintings in the Corcoran Gallery of Art through a gold-framed lorgnette, that dangled
from a jeweled gold chain.

Another woman was standing before
a canvas, and, in a desire for information, or, perhaps, for the sake of social interchange, the lady of the lorgnette
inquired, affably:

"Is that a picture of the death of the Lord?"

"No, madam; it represents the martyrdom of St. Sebastian."

"Ah, I see. I have the poorest memory. I knew that they killed the Lord, of course, but I disremembered
just how."—Washington Star.

Pay, Pray and Peg Away.

In a Long Island village there used to be and still is a group of people who thought a good deal of each other in spite of what they said, which was frequently of an unsympathetic nature, according to the New York Sun.
The group existed under various self-imposed names and had a semi-humorous motto which ran, "Pay, pray and peg away."

All the members of this little association are still alive, kicking and good-natured.

Now seems an apt time to suggest that their motto be made public and urged for more general adoption.

Richard, the Hunchback.

Of all the kings of England, perhaps Richard, the hunchback, has the most sinister reputation, his only rival being the crafty John. He died on Bosworth field, fighting for the crown he had gained by murder. It is a matter of history as well as of Shakespeare—not always the same thing—that the tide of success turned against Richard when Lord Stanley took himself and his men from his side to that of Richmond. When hard pressed, Richard cried: "I am king of England! I will not budge an inch." Then, being overwhelmed, he died, crying, "Treason!
Treason!"

LISZT RUINED BY SUCCESS

Idolized Piano Virtuoso Grew to Live Only for the Admiration and Adulation of Women.

It is only when we remember Liszt's profession that we can read the riddle he presents, writes Paul Rosenfeld in the Seven Arts. From childhood up, he was the idolized piano virtuoso. He was petted and adored all his life. He was successful from the beginning. He was smothered all his life under the adulation showered upon him in every capital of Europe, showered upon him in very tangible form by women of the highest society. His was not a character profound or fine enough to right itself. He never managed to develop out of that stage, to contact with truly nourishing things. On the contrary, he became completely uprooted, came to exist entirely in this modern Capua, came to love it and to crave the rose leaves and the clouds of perfume. His music is largely an aspiration toward it, an attempt to perpetuate about him the admiration and adulation, the glowing eyes and half-parted lips, the heaving bosoms. It is a mechanism for procuring for himself the Pascha-power he desired. Indeed, beside Liszt, Chopin seems a veritable anchorite.

True, Liszt interested himself in music for another reason. If it served to procure him the particular "place in the sun" that he craved, it furnished him also with a most engaging pastime. He interested himself in music as one might interest oneself in a sport that becomes more engaging as one becomes more proficient in it. He studied its rules, its technique, its tricks. With what keenness he mastered them, his compositions show. But that interest was only minor. The other was the major.

HAVING A PURPOSE IN LIFE

Unless One Aims at Certain Goal, He Is Likely to Drift With Current and Be Swept Out to Sea.

To have a purpose in life and stick to it has long been a cardinal principle of right living, and it does not seem that any man or woman could ever lack a real object for which to strive. It is hard work which tells in this world, not merely the perfunctory efforts with which so many persons hope to win success. Unless we are animated by the desire to achieve a certain goal, we shall most probably only drift with the current and in the end be swept out to sea along with other wreckage, says the Charleston News. The longer we live the more this fact is impressed upon our minds, but it frequently takes some great emergency to bring it home to us in an unmistakable way. Of course, there are men and women everywhere in all walks of life who are actuated by noble impulses and lofty ambitions, and who, because they persist in working for the attainment of a high ideal, are doing much for the uplift of the world. On the other hand, observation clearly shows that not all men and women recognize their full duty in life. Such persons are, as a rule, far removed through fortunate circumstances from the necessity of having to work for their living; their wealth and high worldly position have placed them beyond the threat of privation, and they are content to stand by idly and let their neighbors do the necessary work of the world.

Glances.

Wherever people come together the air is full of glances and yet for the most part they are stolen, for the unwritten law in such cases is that one person shall not look openly into the eyes of another unless some mutual acquaintance has uttered the meaningless but extraordinary important words of introduction. Perhaps it is because custom demands that among strangers glances of shy appraisal or frank interest must be stolen that they are so intense, so furtive and, in the main, so interesting. The principal difficulty in learning about them from observation is, of course, that in order to observe one must of necessity steal a few glances. What one can learn in a brief glance is little, but with practice it becomes greater, and a skilled observer, used to thinking quickly and to point about what he sees, can see and learn much without making a brazen nuisance of himself.—Indianapolis News.

"Light of the Moon."

The phrase "the light of the moon" is an indefinite one, not used by scientists and used by others in a mistaken and misleading sense. The moon has no light of its own, and the only light that comes from it is the reflected light of the sun, without any warmth or life-giving quality or any effect on vegetation. As loosely used by many persons, the expression "light of the moon" means a few nights in each month preceding and a few nights following full moon. Many persons think this "light of the moon" period has an important bearing on seed germination and plant growth, but that is a mistake.

All Plants Once Wild.

It would be interesting if we could know the history of the various fruits and vegetables that we eat. Of course, all of them—or, at least, their uncultivated ancestors—were once wild; just as we, or, at least, our savage forebears, were once wild. And, of course, the cultivated garden vegetables, many of them, bear no more resemblance to their uncultivated prototypes, some of them, than we do to the missing link or his immediate descendants.

MAN'S DUTY IS TO KEEP FIT

Walk to and From Business and Fill Lungs With Fresh Air, Urges the Plattsburg Manual.

The greatest problem you will have to solve will be that of making your body do the work required. Some men have to leave the training camps because they are not in the proper physical condition to go on with the work, says the Plattsburg Manual.

If you have not a pair of sensible marching shoes (tan hightops, no hooks on them) get a pair. These shoes should be considerably larger than a pair of office shoes.

Walk to and from your business. Take every opportunity to get out in the country where the air is pure. Fill your lungs full. Get into the habit of taking deep breaths now and then. Don't make this a task, but surround it with pleasures. Get some delightful companion to walk with you. Walk vigorously. Let down on your smoking. Better to leave it alone for a while. You will enjoy the air. Deep breathing seems to be more natural.

Make it a work for your country. View it in that light. If you are not going to be called upon to undergo cruel hardships and physical strain of some campaigns, your son will be, and you can be of great help to him by being fit yourself.

USES FEET IN TYPEWRITING

Operator Increases Speed by Attaching Pedals to the Space and Shift Keys of His Machine.

By attaching pedals to the space key and shift key, writes a correspondent of Popular Mechanics, I increased my typewriting speed about twenty words a minute. I made two pedals fast to the typewriter desk, from which I ran stiff steel wires up to the keys, connecting the latter to the wire with rubber bands.

The pedals are adjusted so that a light tap operates them. If a light typewriter is used, it should be fixed to the desk. The wires can be unhooked quickly from the typewriter and suspended on hooks under the edge of the desk.

BLIND AUTOMOBILE PROFESSOR.

A visitor to the blind hospitals of France tells of one of the most interesting men that she met, the head of a work for adjusting parts of automobiles, who was made totally blind by liquid fire. He has, in the face of all discouragement, and unfortunately there is never any lack of that, succeeded in not only taking up his old work, but is now the professor in that line, with an increasing number of happy, hopeful men working under him at an interesting and well-paid trade, she says. I had the honor, for I count it an honor, to know such a man, of going out with him the other day to buy some of the tools most necessary for each of the workers to have. The prices, alas, had more than tripled, and some things were impossible to get, but, thanks to the aid which I was able to supply, we succeeded in procuring the most essential.

PHONOGRAPH AIDS WORKERS

Some Big Offices Find That Starting Day With Snappy Music Increases Efficiency of Force.

Have you ever stopped to think how much valuable time is lost each morning before you, your office force or your employers get started on the day's work? Generally the business world takes from fifteen minutes to half an hour to wake up in the morning and "to get down to brass tacks." Workers come down to business in varying degrees of efficiency—some still sleepy, some gaping, some grouchy, some disgruntled.

Someone started racking his brain for some method by which to dispel this early morning gloom and forthwith came an idea which bids fair to eliminate it, and which promises to clear up the brow and make smiles take the place of frowns right from the start of the day. First comes the news that a New York concern which conducts a large factory for making muslin underwear conceived a happy thought as a solution. At the stroke of the opening hour, a phonograph plays a smart, rattling, quick-step movement that makes brilliant and snappy the morning air and sets every heart beating a little quicker, dispelling as fleet as lightning, any unhappiness or gloom that might still linger.

Now we learn that this speeding-up plan has been adopted by many business houses throughout the country and the difference in the spirit of the workers is remarkable to see. —Exchange.

ESTATES HEAVILY TAXED.

Large estates are heavily taxed. At Albany, N. Y., State Collector Travis received a check for $1,130,000 to be applied in payment for the transfer tax on the estate of the late John D. Archbold, who died December 5, 1916. This was only a temporary payment. The tax may reach nearly $2,000,000. The Archbold estate is now being appraised by the controller. It is estimated to be valued at about $30,000,000. The tax will be assessed after the appraiser of the controller fixes the value of the property and holdings of the deceased oil man.

DANGEROUS.

"It's a dangerous idea."
"What is?"
"The notion that the war will be over before we get in it."

FORBIDDEN COMFORT.

"Have you got any antitoxin in the house?"
"Mercy me, no! This town's local option."

AGAINST ONE SUPERSTITION.

"Do you think it bad luck to pay the doctor in full?"
"Certainly not. I'm a doctor myself."

A CONSISTENT STAND.

"Shall we stop here and get a glass of aqua pura?"
"No, siree; none of them intoxicating drinks for me."

NOT TO BRAG ABOUT.

Jack—That horse shows as much sense as I do.
Belle—Don't tell anybody. You may want to sell him some day.

TO BE FULLY COVERED.

Man—No, I am carrying all the life insurance I want.
Agent—I notice you have a wooden leg—how about fire insurance?

WHEN A COLD IS NOT A COLD

If It Lasts Longer Than Three Days It Is a "Nasal Sinusitis," Declares Physician.

"A cold in the head which lasts longer than three days is no longer such, but a nasal sinusitis," said Dr. John J. Hurley of Boston in an address reported in the Medical Record.

Doctor Hurley was arguing that "grippe" and influenza were nothing, but an inflammation of the sinuses of the face, that labyrinth of the passages in the bones of the nose, cheeks and forehead which empty into the nose or pharynx. After comparing all the classic symptoms of influenza as described in the textbooks with those of sinusitis and pointing out their similarity if not identity, he called "influenza" and "grippe" the "alibis of ignorance."

The familiar influenza bacillus discovered by Pfeiffer is found in many but by no means all cases of so-called grippe. It has a special affinity for the sinuses of the nose. But there are many other bacilli—all of the pus-forming kinds—that produce the same effects.

Sinusitis is nothing but the formation of an abscess in the sinuses. The patient needs no drugs; what he needs is to have the sinuses emptied. This is easy in nearly all cases; a specialist can open the swollen passages with a cotton pledget on the tip of a bougie and generally nothing more is needed than the touching of the passages with nitrate of silver. Once they begin to discharge their pus freely the cure is rapid. Cases in which an operation is necessary are the rare exception.

DAYS ARE GROWING LONGER

Scientists Say It Takes World Three Seconds Longer to Turn Over Than It Did 100 Years Ago.

Our earth appears to be slowing down its spin. Two British astronomers who have just finished a long study of the matter report that it now takes almost exactly three seconds longer for the world to turn over once than it took 100 years ago, and, a century hence, still another three seconds will have been added to the day.

At this rate, Shakespeare had nearly ten seconds less in his 24 hours than has a modern dramatist, says Saint Nicholas. William the Conqueror was handicapped a half minute in keeping up with his descendants. Julius Caesar was a whole minute to the bad; while even if he had lived to old age, his life would still have been some twenty of our days short of what his biographers would have claimed for him.

Abraham and the early Pharaohs would have been still more pressed for time. The earliest men, say in the year 100,000 B. C., would have had no use for How long to live on 24 hours a day, for they had only 24 hours to do their living in and were really only seventy-six years old when they thought they had reached fourscore.

May Be Oldest Book Extant.

In an ancient Samaritan synagogue at Shechem a double roll of parchment is guarded jealously and is zealously preserved. It was to Shechem that Abraham came in his first visit to Canaan. Near Shechem Jacob sank his famous well, and the returning Israelites heard here for the last time the voice of Joshua. Shechem was the first residence of the kings of Israel and was a city of the kings of Israel and was a city of refuge. Here at Jacob's well Jesus met the woman of Samaria. Here the great Justin martyr was born. After the division of Israel into two kingdoms Shechem became the religious center of the northern kingdom, and Jeroboam's self-appointed faith degenerated into the Samaritan worship of our Lord's day, which is perpetuated in the old synagogue which holds this scroll. This double roll of parchment, possibly the oldest in the world, contains the first five books of the Old Testament and may be as old as the days of Jeremiah. —Christian Herald.

Why Singers Break Down.

Singing is an abnormal exercise of the lungs, to say nothing of the other organs involved. It over exercises the upper portion of the body, forcing abnormal pressure in an upward direction and tending to overheat the upper portion of the body. Up to a certain point, a healthful stimulation of the blood circulation is the happy result; but beyond that point, the increasing motion imparted tends to fever, and a reaction the next day shows that a cooling down period has been forced upon the singer's attention. —Physical Culture.

Morning Glories.

Wild morning glories, like the lilies of the field, "toll not, neither do they spin." But though arrayed like Solomon, they are not sought after for landscape decoration. In the plant kingdom they are military oppressors, ousting every other aspirant for vegetable honors from every acre where they obtain a footing. Hence has sprung a strange lawsuit between two wealthy ranchers in Santa Barbara county, the one accusing the other of having seeded his land to these radiant but hostile flowers. —Los Angeles Times.

BROADBENT & WALLACE.
Hereford Cattle.
Cerulean, - - - Ky.

Messrs. Broadbent and Alex.
Wallace, two of the big stock breeders of this end of the State, are well represented at the fair by 14 head of the finest pure bred Herefords ever seen here, including the famous bulls,
David McRea and Prince Rupert 63d, and cows, Belle Britisher, Prime Lassie and Vernet Queen. The Broadbent Brothers own and conduct a 1300 acre farm near Cerulean, which is adjoined by the 300 acres of Alex.
Wallace. They devote special attention to the breeding of pure Herefords
and have a herd of 60 registered cattle that are known to breeders and lovers of fine stock throughout the country. They have on hand at all times and for sale choice breeding stock. Correspondence receives their prompt attention. Don't fail to see their showing of Herefords at the

J. U. CAMPBELL
Belle Isle Durocs.

One of the products that has made Christian county famous is the celebrated Belle Isle Duroc Hogs, bred
on the large stock farm conducted by Mr. J. U. Campbell, just south of the city, where he has a herd of more than 200 head of thoroughbreds, the sales from which will amount to more than $10,000 for this season. The herd is headed by Belle Isle King,
one of the largest boars sired by Orion Cherry King, is of immense size and wonderful quality, weighing a little better than 1,000 pounds, assisted by Belle Island Success and Belle Island
Imperator, and one of the greatest herds of brood sows in America.
Bred sows and spring boars are now ready for sale; don't fail to see the Belle Island display at the fair.

Mr. Campbell is one of the largest and most experienced breeders of fine stock in the country, and one of the leading citizens of the county. A visit to his beautiful farm is a revelation to the laymen and is always welcomed by the hospitable owner, who is a courteous southern gentleman of

Mr. McGaughey is one of the oldest patrons of the Pennyroyal Fair and has been one of the Directors of the Fair organization since its beginning.
He is one of the most prominent stock raisers in Western Kentucky, and his showing here this season is said by regular attendants at the Pen-

HIGGINS' CIGAR FACTORY

An industry of no little importance to the city is the cigar factory conducted at No. 3, Main street, where since 1903 it has enjoyed a steadily increasing patronage as the reputation of the excellence of its brands
has spread over a continuously widening area. The leading brands are Purita and Ecco, 5c, and Don Ricardo, 10c cigars, which are very popular with smokers everywhere. The factory is modern in every particular and gives employment to a number of well paid workers. Mr. Archie Higgins, the proprietor, is one of Hopkinsville's prominent and active business men, being interested in several local institutions, and has only recently entered the automobile business, accepting the local agency for the well known Maxwell cars.

CROFTON

Crofton, one of the prettiest little cities of this section and the distributing center for north end of Christian county, was founded in the earlier sixties by J. E. Croft, who built the first residence there and later established a general store, a business which has continued until today. In 1871 the town was chartered, laid out into town lots by Mr. Croft, who built many of the first residences, erected a mill and promoted several other industries; at the time of its incorporation the little city had a population of 300 people.
The place has had a steady growth and today a tremendous volume of business is transacted there. It has a modern bank, a fine system of the best schools, good hotels, the churches and fraternal orders are well represented, and its people are contented, happy and prosperous. Crofton, with its splendid location, on the L. & N. railway, in the heart of one of the best farming districts in this end of the state, has a bright future before it, and with its affairs in the hands of such progressive citizens as those who now direct its destinies,
its continuous progress is assured.

MRS. J. E. CROFT & CO.,
General Merchandise.

The business now styled Mrs. J. E.
Croft & Co., was in reality the beginning of Crofton itself, being established here by J. E. Croft in 1862, fifty-five years ago, when he saw the natural advantages of the location,
then a mere wilderness, and decided to make it the scene of his future activities. The business prospered from the first, a town gradually growing up around it, with the Croft progressive spirit ever leading in all civic movements and the strong character of the man indelibly impressing itself upon the growth and prosperity of the country. After the death of Mr. Croft, his wife continued the business, and has kept it, as it has been for more than half a century,
one of the leading mercantile establishments in the county. The business is housed in its own spacious and well arranged store rooms, which are completely stocked with a complete and varied line of the best quality of merchandise in practically all lines, and the place is known far and wide for its remarkably low prices and liberal treatment of patrons. Mr. R. W. Trotter, the efficient manager, and is a modern business man who has kept the store abreast of the times and up to its old standards
in every respect, and is responsible in no small measure for its present prosperousness. It is indeed a pleasure to include in our columns this short sketch of such an old and honorable business institution and to predict for it many more years of success and usefulness.

BURKHOLDER BROS.,
Milling and General Merchandise.

No historical review of the commercial progress of the county could be attempted without mention of the phenomenal rise of the Burkholder Bros. firm from a very small beginning to the proud position it occupies today in the business life of the county. L. D. Burkholder first came to the Crofton vicinity in 1887, enter the employ of the K. J. Eslinger mill.

He was joined here in 1890 by his brother, A. L. Burkholder, the two brothers entering business for themselves in a small way. In 1901 the present partnership was formed, the business expanded and the real progress of the firm began. Today they operate a complete and modern milling business, having a capacity of 60
barrels of the finest flour per day,
"Ladies' Delight" being the favorite brand, together with a tremendous amount of the best grades of meal and feed stuffs. But this is only one field of their varied activities; their firm is one of the leading mercandising concerns in the county, dealing extensively in groceries, fresh and cured meats, hardware, farm implements and vehicles, paints, fertilizers, fencing, pumps, roofing, ice, and in fact everything mentionable in the general merchandise line.

The phenomena of the rapid rise
to such flattering success is explained
in great measure when an acquaintance with the members of this enterprising firm is made. They are active, keen, alive and progressive in every action, and yet with all the exacting cares of their huge business
they retain a never-failing exhibit of that true in-born courtesy and pleasing personality that is the chief asset
in the career of every successful business man. The Burkholder Bros.
concern is a monument to the progressive spirit of the county, and that its members are appreciated by their fellow-citizens is evidenced by the great esteem in which they are held throughout the county.

D. W. KITCHEN
Book and Stationary Store.

For nearly half a century the book
and stationary store No. 6 Main street has been one of the landmarks
of the business life of Hopkinsville and is widely known throughout the county as one of the staid and responsible institutions of this section. The place formerly was known under the firm name of Hopper & Kitchen, but Mr. D. W. Kitchen assumed the entire ownership some 18 years ago and has conducted it most successfully since that time. A complete assortment of the best literature and periodicals are always to be found here,
as well as office and school supplies
of all kinds, stationery and fancy articles, all of which are disposed of at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality. Mr. Kitchen, the proprietor, is one of the city's best known and most substantial business men and progressive citizens and his courteous disposition and pleasing personality
are responsible in no small measure
for his material success, which is well deserved.

COLOR VERY CURIOUS THING

Mass of Dull Tints Is Far More Visible at Distance Than Are Broken Lines of Brighter Hues.

It has been doubted whether troops can best be concealed from the enemy by clothing them in a neutral color, like khaki or gray, in spite of the fact that war offices have adopted it. Color is a very curious thing, and a mass of dull tints is far more visible at a distance than broken lines of bright are.

The lion, it is true, affects a khaki shade because of his very peculiar surroundings, but nothing could apparently be much more vivid than the coats of the tiger and the leopards, yet no creatures are more invisible. Not very long ago some curious experiments with artillery shells, painted in stripes of bright red, green and yellow, were made at Aldershot, and these at a few hundred yards' distance were found most strangely difficult to detect. We might take a hint from the animal world, which with certain special exceptions depending on peculiar habits, is almost universally colored dark above and light below. There is much more to be said than might be supposed for the suggestion that soldiers should be given caps distinctly darker than the rest of their uniform, and furnished with a white band.

LONDON'S WOMAN POLICE.

Around the corner from Scotland Yard, London's famous police headquarters, are the offices of the woman police service, says the New York World. They wear a uniform that is as much like that of a regular bobby as skirts will permit. And the policewomen address their feminine officers as "Sir!" For they simply can't assume a brisk, military air and say "Madame," according to the head of the force.

Although without official standing, the woman police force is looking forward to the day when its members can patrol a beat and push citizens around in the name of the law. At present the force is composed of volunteers, and they have done some very excellent work since the war began. In fact, the force had its inception at the time the conflict started.

A SIGN.

"She must be getting old." "What makes you think so?" "She's begun telling folks how young she was when she married."

MEXICAN LOVER "PLAYS BEAR"

Must Be Possessed of Unlimited Patience for Courtship Is Slow and Difficult Process.

This is the manner of courtship in Mexico, says the World Outlook. A young man sees a young lady on the street whom he admires, and follows her home. Having reached her casa, he begins to "play the bear," by walking back and forth in front of the house or standing on the street with his eyes fixed upon her windows, for hours at a time, day and night alike.

The Mexican young woman is coy, and, even if greatly interested, she will remain back of the curtain. By the slightest movement of the curtains or blinds she gives sign that she is not entirely indifferent. After a day or two she may even show her face or wave her hands as a further mark of encouragement, and, after several days, she may appear on the balcony for a few moments. If she goes to church the lover is probably not far behind, and an occasional smile or glance from her eyes of midnight is given him as a reward for his faithfulness. Next come daily salutes and smiles when the lover appears. Flowers in which notes are concealed are sent by the aid of the water carriers or charcoal vendors.

When the courtship has so far advanced that the lovers may talk, the moonlight nights are devoted to the love-making and several pairs of lovers can be seen on almost any street—he on the sidewalk, she at the window. Perhaps in the most casual way imaginable she may let her fingers slip through the bars, for there is just a chance that mamma may be asleep.

Later he may be invited to call at the house by the father or mother after a family council, if his antecedents are all right, for of course they have been investigated by the sagacious parents.

ONE WAY TO COLLECT BILL

Surgeon Makes Wealthy Man Pay for the Burial of Brother Who Died in Arizona.

An embalming incident occurred in Arizona in 1893 when the Chicago exposition was in full blast. Billy, a beloved but impecunious citizen, passed in his checks. Doctor Biford, an old army surgeon, attended him in his last illness, and afterwards embalmed the body, placed it in a metallic casket, and made ready to ship it to John, a wealthy brother of the deceased, who lived in Chicago. But the railroad company refused to receive the casket unless the freight was prepaid. The doctor telegraphed to the Chicago brother, who replied, refusing to remit.

Thereupon the resourceful physician had the front of the casket painted and inscribed: "In this casket reposes Billy. His brother John, who lives in Chicago, welched on the embalming bill and cost of transportation. Whereupon this casket with its contents has been sent to the Chicago exposition to be placed on exhibition in the department of curios. In order to pay the cost of embalming and transportation, this cabinet and remains will be raffled for. Five hundred tickets at 50 cents a ticket. Buy a chance. The winner can start a dime museum with Billy." Doctor Biford had a photograph taken of the casket and sent it to Brother John, and Brother John paid up and ordered his brother to be decently buried at Tucson.

Bad Habit.

Don't call the children kids. A kid is a goat and, while goats are all right in their way, children are better. The dictionary says "kid" applied to a child is slang. And so it is. It depreciates the child. There is no sense in taking away the dignity of a child by calling him an animal, says the Columbus (O.) State Journal. We must keep up the human relation, where respect, sympathy, love dwell. The older people may overlook the false appellation, but it stays with the child and makes him feel, after all, that he is only a little goat, and that his fond delight in eating old rags and paper boxes. Really, the child is an angel, rather than a goat, and is entitled to the sweet considerations that belong to a human being; and if he does not get these it is very likely he will be a sort of goat all his life. So drop the "kid" vocabulary and give the child every chance to be a true human.

The Squirrel Dog.

There is no accounting for that uncanny faculty that enables a homely, long-legged, sad-eyed pup to go unerringly to a lofty oak tree in whose higher branches a bit of animated brown fur is secreted. Another dog of the same or more prepossessing appearance and of a better breed might trot unconcernedly past that same oak tree without so much as a casual sniff. But not so with the real "squirrel dog." He'd pick out the right tree in the densest grove a hunter ever penetrated. And if that squirrel started leaping from tree to tree, that dog would follow it over a square mile of timber.

Wasted Words.

"What do you do when your wife asks you for money?" "I deliver a lecture on the high cost of living, the folly of extravagance and my limited income." "What does she do?" "She hums a little tune." "Then what happens?" "I hand her a check for the desired amount."

MAKING OF VIOLIN STRINGS

Raw Material Is Obtained From the Stock Yards and Is Manufactured by an Interesting Process.

While perhaps most violinists know how the gut strings they use are manufactured, there may be those who are uninformed as to the manufacture of such strings. This may be explained in a few words.

The gut D, A, and E strings are made from the intestines of the sheep. In the full grown, mature animal, such intestines are from 40 to 50 feet in length.

The raw material is obtained from the stock yards, and is first thoroughly cleansed of all fat and flesh fiber, by dull knives arranged on a drum turned by a crank, says the Musician. The white and tough membrane that is left is then split by an expert in this work, by bringing it against the blade of a safety razor set upright in a table before the splitter. The material is thus split into seven strands. These strands are then spun together, and placed on frames where they are thoroughly dried.

The E string of European make requires four strands, and the E string of American make six. The strands, at one end secured to an upright post, are twisted together while in a damp, pliable condition by means of a spinning wheel. After removal from the drying frames, the strings are cut in lengths, coiled and boxed in oiled paper for shipment. Very fine emery paper laid on a grooved aluminum block is used while the strings are still on the drying frames, by passing the covered block over the strings, as many strings being polished as there are grooves in the block.

HOW INDIANS CATCH SALMON

Equipment Consisting of "Grab-Hooks" and Long Poles Is Crude But Very Effective.

The Indians fish for salmon with a "grabhook," a large iron hook fastened to a pole by a loose cord three or four feet long. A hole at the blunt end of the hook that slips over the tip of the pole keeps it in place until the fish is hooked. Then the hook is pulled off the pole and the cord gives the fisherman a chance to play his fish is necessary before dragging it ashore. The hooks are made by the blacksmith, but the poles, about twenty feet in length, the Indians make themselves of red fir, the Southern Workman says.

Taking a rough piece of dry wood of the required length, they patiently work at it with drawshave and knife until it is the right size and tapered to suit the workman. Then it is usually hardened in the coals before putting on the cord, which they braid themselves. If a pole breaks, as often happens, the broken parts are lashed together with string, pitch is smeared over and melted by being rubbed with a hot stone, which makes the pole as strong as before. The Indians generally fish from the bank or from platforms built over the water. They thrust the long pole out across the river as far as they can and let the current carry it down and into the bank, trusting to chance and a quick jerk to hook the fish if they feel one in the water.

Among the many innovations which the age has produced, none seems more novel or extreme than one of the regulations in reference to health and hygiene recently introduced by the management of a great New York hotel, says the Popular Science Monthly. Under the new rules, an official manicure has been installed to take care of the hands of the cooks and waiters. Every day each employee who is in any way connected with the serving of food must report to the official manicure to have his hands thoroughly scrubbed in hot water and his nails cleaned and polished.

ABANDON FOOD PREJUDICES

Don't Be Finicky

Be willing to try new foods. Certain plentiful and nourishing foods widely used and enjoyed in one section are practically unknown in other sections of the country. Learn to know ALL the good things; not a few only.

People too easily get into food ruts---insist on eating only the food they are used to and refuse to give a fair trial to others. This causes undue demand for certain staples, with resulting scarcity or high prices when crops are short. At the same time other valuable foods may be relatively cheap and available. A striking instance of this is failure fully to appreciate rice--a valuable source of starch--when potatoes are scarce and high. Another example is refusal in certain sections to use anything but wheat as a breadstuff when corn--a valuable cereal widely used elsewhere as a breadstuff---is plentiful and relatively cheap.

Cook Food Properly

Learn how to cook all kinds of staple foods and to serve them in a variety of ways. Simple dishes well prepared are better than expensive foods badly cooked.

Many persons are prejudiced against certain good foods because, when first tried, the foods were improperly cooked or prepared.

Remove from your vocabulary "don't like" or "can't eat."

Most individual prejudices against widely popular foods either imaginary or baseless.

Try to like every simple food; give it a fair trial.

Foe to Reptiles.

There is but one animal other than the cat that successfully wages war against the fer-de-lance. It is the mongoose (Ichneumon) imported from India a number of years ago, for the sole purpose of getting rid of the snakes in Martinique. Of the weasel family, and looking very much like those creatures, this little fellow is absolutely fearless so far as reptiles are concerned, and will just as readily attack one five feet in length as one a foot long. From the mongoose the fer-de-lance will flee, but if cornered will put up a great fight, using every trick at its command, a useless sort of contest, however, for within a short time it will be stretched out lifeless.

CAMOUFLAGE AT THE FRONT

"Bluff" is Best American Synonym for Term That Has Come Into Common Use During War.

When snipers crawl into No Man's Land with grass in their caps and when raiding parties go out at night with faces and hands blackened to make them as nearly invisible as may be their officers call it camouflage.

The American khaki, the color of earth and dust, is an example of the same elastic term; so are the German field gray and the French horizon blue.

But the greatest and perhaps the least known use of camouflage is to hide troops advancing in an attack in daylight, says a correspondent at the front. This is done by expelling great clouds of smoke or vapor from the trenches before the infantry go over the top. Generally the men wait until the cloud has settled over the enemy's trenches, confusing them and preventing their firing accurately at the attackers. Sometimes the attacking troops leave the trenches with the cloud and advance in its protection.

The varieties of camouflage are infinite. Probably the most ancient example is the wooden horse of Troy. Any little trick that makes the enemy see what does not exist, or prevents his seeing what does exist, anything that makes him do something he ought not to do is camouflage. Its best American synonym is "bluff." It will be interesting to see what new varieties of it poker playing Americans will invent.

Witness Declined He "Didn't Care Anything About Old Trial, Anyway," When Lawyer Sprang Trap.

When Henry L. Doherty, the New York banker, lived in Columbus, O., he attended a trial in one of the small villages nearby. The case concerned the theft of a horse and an important witness was a long-legged farmer with an Adam's apple that was nothing if not dexterous.

The prisoner's lawyer asked him what kind of a night it was when the theft was committed.

"It was so goshdarned black you couldn't see your hand before you."

There were a few other questions and then: "What was the color of this horse?"

"It was a bay."

"That is strange. You say you couldn't see your hand before you. How could you tell the color of the horse?"

There was no answer.

"I am asking you," thundered the lawyer, "how could you tell the color of the horse?"

The Adam's apple worked hard. "I don't care anything about this old trial, anyway," said the farmer starting to leave the stand.

PORPOISE FISHERY IS OLD

One of Least-Known Industries in America Operated for 200 Years From Cape Hatteras.

One of the oldest and least-known industries in America is the porpoise fishery, which has been operated from Cape Hatteras, in North Carolina, for about 200 years. It should attain an unusual prosperity in the next few years, for the bureau of fisheries is urging more general use of porpoise hides in place of cowhide. It is an excellent leather and could undoubtedly be used more widely, says the Baltimore American.

Heretofore the most valuable product of the fishery, has been the oil which is extracted from the jaws of the porpoise and is worth about $20 a gallon. It is universally used for lubricating watches and other very delicate mechanisms. The body blubber is also valuable. Attempts to manufacture fertilizer out of the carcasses have failed because of the distance from a fuel supply.

The porpoises are taken at Hatteras in seines operated from the shore, and it is probably the only place in America where this has ever been successfully done. During the fall, winter and spring many porpoises are seen off the South Atlantic coast and at Hatteras they come within a few hundred yards of the surf. They are taken by spreading seines about 200 yards outside the surf line. As soon as the porpoises have come inside the seine it is dragged ashore. Often a whole school of these sea creatures is taken in a single haul.

IS CURIOUS TRADE MONOPOLY

Making of Missionary Boxes in England Has Been in Hands of Same Family for Many Generations.

It is curious how certain trades and occupations remain peculiar to certain families. There is one occupation employing a large number of men today which is in the hands of the same family that has been associated with it for many generations. It is the making of missionary boxes, says London Tit-Bits.

It might be supposed that any carpenter could knock together a suitable receptacle for contributions to missionary and other charitable funds; but the fact remains that every missionary society, every church organization, that requires a collecting-box goes, as a matter of course, to this old-established firm whose specialty it is to make such boxes.

It is a thriving business, and one which has profited rather than suffered through the war, for the institution of flag days and other means of collecting funds has led to an enormous increase in the demand for boxes.

Training Gunners for Sea.

When England trains her gunners for the sea, she sends them to Whale Island in Portsmouth harbor. Here the entire island is given over to steel sheds, which are built like gun turrets on a battleship. The great guns projecting from these sheds are dummies, as Popular Science shows, though they are exact counterparts of those on a battleship. The prospective officers, and men are made to go through the exercise of range finding, loading, aiming and "firing" these guns as rigidly as if they were in a real battle at sea. The heavy steel projectiles are hauled from the magazine by hydraulic and electric cranes just as in an actual ship. A real breech mechanism locks the projectile and its powder charge in the gun, while an intricate swivel mounting of steel swings the gun into firing position.

India Bearish on Silver.

A London bullion house says the recent fall in silver prices at Bombay throws a light upon the bearish attitude of the Indian bazaars which has obtained for some time past and also upon the way in which the Indian people have been content with greatly reduced imports for industrial consumption. It is more than probable that many individuals whose silver jewelry depreciated seriously when the Indian mints were closed to free coinage have taken advantage of the high prices compared with those ruling for the last twenty years or so and have turned their silver bangles into silver coin.

Urges Eating of More Fish.

In a bulletin dealing with the wholesale supply and price of staple foods in New York issued by the health department housewives are advised to substitute fish for meat, it being noted that there is an abundance of fish on the wholesale market and that it is far cheaper than meat. The bulletin says in part: "There is no reason why households should be fed on expensive meats when fish is cheap and just as nourishing and healthful."

No doubt there were burglars all around me last night, but I didn't have to get out of bed and look for them."

THEY DECEIVE WITH PICTURES

Favorite Method of the Catalogue Houses.

THE FARMER AND THE COW

Would He Buy One From a Picture? Mail Order Houses Use Exaggerated Drawings and Paintings Instead of Photographic Reproductions—Stung and Nothing Is Said About It.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]
A book with pictures and a book without pictures differ nearly as much as a room with windows and a room without windows, for pictures are "holes of escape to the soul, leading it to other scenes and spheres where the fancy for the moment may revel, refreshed and delighted. They are windows of imprisoned thought."

A picture is invariably an exaggeration of the object reproduced, and, generally speaking, to please it must deceive.

Of Deceptive Value.
The deceptive value of drawings or paintings over photography is recognized by no one more fully than by the great catalogue houses, hence their adoption of the most expensive method of displaying their goods to the public, well knowing that photographs tell the truth, so far as a correct pictorial reproduction is concerned, and would not be conducive to good business methods when the goods offered are faulty.

How many farmers would think of buying a cow from a picture in a newspaper or catalogue, with just a name and description under it? Of course the description would say that the cow was a fine black and white cow, weight 800 pounds and so many hands high, free from blemishes and offered at the reduced price of $39.97 because of a spot cash deal with a stock farm which failed.

There is as much sense in a purchase of that nature as there is for a farmer to buy a buggy, "our own brand," at $24.75 when he can get the real article from his home dealer for $25 and have the privilege of inspecting it before buying. And no freight to pay.

Did Farmer Consider Everything?
While talking to a farmer the following was gleaned: "Farmers, as a rule, do not like to send their money to Chicago or any other place for their goods. They would rather buy of their local merchants if their prices are not out of reason. Merchants generally buy their goods where they can get them the cheapest, whether in Chicago, New York or Asia, no matter how much of the same goods the farmer has to sell. The price is the first and last consideration. They fix the price of what he sells as well as what he buys. Can the farmer be blamed for buying where he can get the best bargains? He wants to enjoy the same privilege as the merchants do. Fair play is all he wants."

A Business Injustice.
But did the farmer who made the above remarks take everything into consideration? Did he remember that while the local business men are maintaining markets for the farmers, assisting in making roads to these markets and doing all they can to help the farmer, the mail order houses that have not a cent invested in his vicinity do not buy a dollar's worth of the farmer's crops nor contribute a cent to the welfare of the community? Yet they are getting a goodly portion of the local trade, and business men naturally feel that it is an injustice. It is, and the only way to overcome it is by ADVERTISING.

Visit to Country Town.
Merchants should publish a comparison of their prices with those of the retail catalogue houses—fight them with their own weapons. While visiting a country town recently the writer made some investigations and discoveries. For example, a Chicago mail order house was selling 100 pound grindstones mounted for $3.10. The local merchant sold the same article for $3.25; freight from Chicago, 55 cents, making the mail order article cost $3.65; seam roofing, $2.85 in Chicago and $2.90 from the local merchant, freight 15 cents per square to be added to the $2.85, making it $3 delivered; washing machines, $3.85 against $3.75, freight 25 cents to be added to the $3.85. These are facts which every merchant can prove and keep right on proving all the time.

Cash at Home Too.
Local merchants will quote prices on goods so low that catalogue and mail order houses cannot duplicate them. But you must pay cash. Mail order houses demand the cash in advance. Why not pay the local merchant in advance? Besides, when you buy from a catalogue you send your money away from your home town. You buy from a picture and wait a week or ten days for the goods to arrive; then you open up your "prize box" to see what you really have drawn in the lottery and what you have to show for your money. If you have drawn one of their "baits" you tell your neighbors and friends about it—in fact, you will tell every one about it. If you find, as is usually the case, that you were "stung" you say nothing about it; your lips are sealed as tight as death.

ABOUT SILOS"

A silo is a sure sign of thrift.

Only the best farmers build them.

They save 40 per cent. of a corn crop.

Corn is now worth $9.00 per barrel.

The stalks that produce a barrel of corn today are worth $3.60 if put into a silo.When you allow these stalks to dry up on the hill for fodder you lose about $3.00 for every barrel of corn you produce.

You can't afford this awful waste.

If you raise a $3.00 barrel corn crop you throw away $900.00 by not converting it the stalk
insilage.It behooves every man in every business to save everything in times like these. The opposite course is not only foolish but wicked,
for the world's food and feed supply is wholly inadequate.

We offer first class silos with plain lugs as follows:

10 ft. diameter, 24 ft. high$145.00
12 ft. " 30 ft. high 205.00

We offer 5 per cent. off for cash.

for the well deserved success they have attained.

FOREWORD

In a rapidly growing community such as Hopkinsville it is necessary in order that new-comers and the younger generation
may know and become acquainted with the rudiments of the history of the community in which they live, that periodically someone must gather the information and give it publicity, and in a very brief way we have endeavored in this issue to give short but interesting sketches of the individuals, firms and institutions who have been in the past and are now actively engaged in the development of the county and city.

Christian county, of which Hopkinsville is the county seat, was formed from part of Logan county in 1796 and was the 21st county of the state; from the territory embraced in Christian county at that time 20 other counties have since been formed. The county was named in honor of Col. William Christian, a noted soldier and Indian fighter, a Virginian who came to this section in 1785 and was actively identified with the early settlement of the county. He was killed by Indians in 1797.

Hopkinsville was chosen as the county seat by the first county court which organized here August 15 1797, and the new county received as a donation from Bartholomew Wood, who owned the land upon which the city now stands, 5 acres of land, upon which the county buildings were to be erected. The first court house erected was a hewed log, one-room building 20 feet square, and the first jail a similarly constructed cabin 14 feet square. The total cost of these public buildings was $150, and the entire budget of the new county's expense for the first year of its existence, including official salaries, and wolf scalp bounties, was $450. In 1806 a contract was let for a brick court house and jail, which were completed in 1810, the court house also being used as a place of worship by the early citizens of Hopkinsville. In 1836 a two-story brick court house and jail were erected which answered all county purposes until it was burned during the Civil War. Following the war, in 1869, the present county buildings were erected, being considered the finest buildings in the state at that time and costing $100,000. At the first national census in 1800 Christian county had a population of 2,318 which had grown in 1860, the beginning of the Civil War, to 21,687, despite the high slices of territory that had been taken from the county to form other new counties. Among the many natives of Christian county who became prominent in public life during the last century was Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy, who was born here.

Hopkinsville, first known as Elizabeth, or Elizabeth Town, when established as the county seat of Christian county, was only a crossroads, or cross-trail, rather, and even after being a county seat town for four years, it had a population of only 39 souls in 1800.
In 1804 the name was changed to Hopkinsville in honor of General
Samuel Hopkins, a Revolutionary officer, who settled in the county immediately following the Revolution. Twenty-five years after Hopkinsville was made the county seat it had a population of only 150, and at the beginning of the Civil War only 800 people made the town their home. In 1890 the population had increased to more than 3,000, and then with the coming of railroads the real development of the county and the consequent growth of the city began, its population steadily mounting upward until today it is estimated to be about 15,000.

Hopkinsville is an ideal site for the seat of county government because geographically it is near the center of Christian county and the easiest point reached by road from all parts. A great deal of the increase in population and business of the city in recent years is due to the great progress in agriculture which has taken place
since convenient markets have been afforded by the modern road facilities. The city has always been excellently and economically governed, and improvements have kept abreast of the times. All the principal streets are well paved and there are miles of concrete and brick sidewalks. Modern gas, electric and water plants render their well nigh perfect services at very moderate rates.
The city is well represented in every line of mercantile endeavor,
as our columns will show, having commodious store buildings, stocked with the choicest of merchandise in every line. Practically all the better makes of automobiles are represented by agencies and service stations; the best of hotels welcome the wayfaring visitor and modern amusements, movie theaters, bowling alleys, etc., abound; churches, fraternal and social organizations flourish. The school system is one of the finest to be found in the state, and includes an up-to-date public library. The tobacco business is the chief industry, and large establishments for the handling of this product are to be seen in every section of the city. The city government is of the modern non-partisan commission form and in the hands of honest, upright officials. The commercial interests are directed by progressive business men, and, above all, our people are contented, prosperous and happy.

HOPKINSVILLE NEWSPAPERS.

The first newspaper published in Hopkinsville was The Kentucky Republican, established in 1820, by Davis S. Patton, an attorney, editor and publisher. It was followed in order by The Spy, Gazette, Green River Whig, Kentucky Rifle, The Mercury, Peoples Press, Republican, Conservative and The Democrat. The present Kentuckian was established January 1, 1879, a little later with Charles M. Meacham as editor, a position he has held ever since, now being sole owner of the publication. The New Era was established in 1870 by Col. John D. Morris, and has been published continuously since that time, and is now owned by A. W. Wood.

THE NEW WHITE WAY.

As evidence of the progressive spirit of Hopkinsville, is shown by the completion of the preliminary details and the arrival of some of the material for the erection of a modern metropolitan
"White Way" along the principal business thoroughfares of the city.
Construction will begin shortly, and when this work is completed
the business section will be one of the most brilliantly lighted of any town this size in the country. This improvement was made possible through the concentrated co-operation of the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association, the City Commissioners and the Kentucky Public Service Company, and will be of inestimable value to the city.

BUCK BRAND OVERALL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

Manufacturers of Overalls and
and Jackets.

One of the later industrial establishments to realize the value of a location in Hopkinsville is the Buck
Brand Overall Company, which operated in Lewisburg for a number of years, but opened its main plant and home offices here a few months ago, establishing it in the Wheeler building, where they are well located and are doing a nice business which is steadily increasing throughout this territory. The plant is equipped with the latest machinery and appliances
for turning out the famous Buck Brand overalls and jackets, having a capacity of 600 garments per day. It employs 50 well paid and contented workers, the pay roll alone being a considerable asset to the business life of the city. The company, which is incorporated and is a strong financial concern, also has a factory in Bradfordville which employs 60 people and takes care of its large business in that section of the country. The owners and officers are all business men of high standing and include J. C.
Yates, president; J. V. McReynolds, vice-president, and L. D. Browning, secretary-treasurer, all gentlemen of long experience in their chosen line.
Their products, the Buck Brand overalls and jackets, are popular throughout this section, being made of the best material obtainable and by artists who are experts in cutting and finishing. To dealers who are not yet handling this line we would recommend that they form connections with this worthy establishment at the earliest convenience.

E. C. MAJOR

Democratic Candidate for Sheriff of Christian County.

The name of "Major" has figured in the development and progress of Christian county for the past half century, the men of that family being of that sturdy pioneer stock who cleared the wilderness of Western Kentucky and laid the foundation for its present activity and prosperity.
The subject of this sketch, Mr. E. C.
Major, was born in this county 37
years ago, and raised on the Major farm about two miles from Hopkinsville and although following the pursuit of agriculture, has still found time to take an active part in commercial activities and a deep interest in politics and the local governing methods of the country, and has always been found on the side of those innovations that have meant the betterment of conditions and the greater comfort and convenience of its citizens. For fourteen years Mr. Major was manager of the implement department of the Forbes establishment and in that capacity became known to practically every farmer in the county, all of whom hold him in the highest esteem for his square-cut business methods, his inborn courtesy and pleasing personality.

Like his people before him, Mr.
Major is a Democrat in politics and has always taken an active interest in the affairs of his party, and at the last August primary he was chosen as his party's candidate for high sheriff of the county by a flattering majority of 300 votes. That no stronger candidate could have been named is patent from the fact that he probably has a wider acquaintance with the people, and especially the farmers of the county than any other man in it,
and will receive a large vote from members of the opposite political party, who appreciate his qualifications and recognize in him, regardless of his political faith, a straightforward, honest man who will make an ideal public servant. Considering his qualifications, his large acquaintance and his sterling reputation,
there is no reason to believe otherwise than that E. C. Major will be the next sheriff of Christian county.

Marriage Custom of Swiss.

In some parts of Switzerland the maid of honor removes the bridal wreath at the church door and lights it with a taper, the bride in the meanwhile kneeling before the burning emblem of her maidenhood and saying a formal invocation for blessing on her married life, and it is held to be a very fortunate omen if the flowers flare up and burn quickly.

Playing a Deep Game.

Ethel had been shopping with her mother. When they returned home
she was tired and hungry, and prompted by a desire for a good meal,
she said: "Mamma, let's play I'm your guest and am going to stay for dinner."

THE NEW HOTEL MAIN.

Mrs. L. Yonts, Proprietor.

"The Small Hotel With Big Accommodations" is the proud boast of
The New Main, located on Main street, just north of the courthouse,
and one of the neatest and best kept stopping places in this section of the country. The business is located in a modern brick building; has nicely furnished and appointed parlors, office and lobby, sample rooms, etc.,
and 24 comfortably furnished, light,
airy, bed rooms, with all up-to-date
conveniences, including electricity,
hot and cold water in every room
all of which are kept spotlessly clean and supplied with an abundance of clean linen. The Main is operated on both the American and European plan, the cuisine being famous among traveling men for its excellent service.

Mrs. L. Yonts, who assumed the management of the place two months ago, has had long experience
in the hotel business, and thoroughly understands the art of maintaining a
"home-like air" at her hotel. Mrs.
Emma Petre has charge of the dining room and culinary department and is responsible in large measure for its popularity. When in Hopkinsville you can assure yourself of home-like comforts at reasonable rates by making The New Hotel Main your headquarters. Rates $2.50 per day. European plan, $1.00 per day.

R. E. & W. D. COOPER.

Loose Leaf Floor.

It is now generally admitted by growers that the present loose floor method of marketing their tobacco is the best that has ever yet been devised, and at the large warehouses operated by Messrs. R. E. and W. D.
Cooper, at the corner of 12th and Water streets, buyers from all parts of the country are brought into active competition and the highest possible prices secured for the producers. The proprietors of this establishment are among the oldest and most widely experienced of Christian county's tobacco men, having been actively engaged for more than 30 years in the business.
They have a large circle of acquaintances among the farmers, who hold them in the highest esteem and respect, and their thorough knowledge of market conditions place them in position to render to patrons of their house a service of inestimable value.
To any grower who has not as yet formed a business acquaintance with the Messrs. Cooper we would suggest that they do so at the earliest opportunity.

DUFFER-COX MOTOR CO.
(Incorporated.)Car Agency and Service Station.
Phone 238.

Although established at the corner of 7th and Liberty streets only two months ago, the above company has proven a popular enterprise since its inception and is enjoying a steadily increasing business, due to the excellence of the products handled and the services rendered. A complete modern garage is operated, with ample storage room for cars and up-to-date appliances for their proper care, and a varied assortment of accessories, parts and supplies kept in stock. The best grade tires, oils, gasoline, etc., only are handled and the repair department is in charge of expert automobile mechanics capable of caring for all makes of cars.

The company which is incorporated, is composed of some of the best automobile men in the county, including such experienced veterans in that line as G. N. Duffer, president; G. A. Co-vice-president, and Ralph E. Lewis, secretary-treasurer. These gentlemen are active in the conduct of the business, giving it their personal attention, which accounts in a large measure for its success. The company is distributor for the famous Chandler and Dodge Brothers cars, two makes that are widely and favorably known for their performances and durability. If contemplating the purchase of a pleasure car don't fail to have a demonstration of the Chandler and the Dodge before placing your order.

GARRISON ICE CREAM COMPANY

Manufacturers of Ice Cream and Cones.

Supplying towns within a radius of 60 miles of Hopkinsville the Garrison Ice Cream Company, located opposite Hotel Latham has built up an enviable business during the comparatively short time since its inception here in the early part of 1916 and is rapidly taking a place in the front rank of local industries. The company are manufacturers and shippers of ice cream and cones, having a capacity of 400 gallons of the finest grade cream per day which has a ready sale and an ever increasing demand. E. L. FOULKS.
Coal.

It is drawing near the time when we should all begin to think of coal, and the word coal has so long been connected with the name of Foulks, that it immediately suggests to the mind "Foulkscoal," the trade word of the oldest coal dealing establishment in the city, being founded by Mr. E. L. Foulks, in 1870, almost half a century ago. This large institution with its extensive yards located on the L. & N. at 14th street, handles the celebrated St. Bernard, Nebo No. 14 and "Old Lee" Anthracite coals famous for both steam and domestic purposes, and deliveries are made promptly to any section of the city, orders over phones 20 or 189 receiving prompt attention.

Mr. S. L. Peace, the present manager, is a coal man of long experience and fully capable of maintaining the high standard and reputation of "Foulks Service." He will be glad to make you interesting prices on your winter supply. Try "Foulkscoal" and become satisfied.

C. W. DUCKER

Carriage Building and Repairing.

Since 1876 the carriage factory and repairing shop conducted by Mr. C. W. Ducker on Virginia street between 8th and 9th has been one of the landmarks in the industrial life of the city, and that it has enjoyed a fine patronage through all these years is proof conclusive that the services rendered here are of the best. Mr. Ducker who is an expert mechanic himself, employs only experts in the conduct of his place and every vehicle turned out or repaired is guaranteed to be finished in the most workmanlike manner. The factory, while an old one, has been kept abreast of the times in the matter of tools, machinery and appliances and is thoroughly equipped to do all kinds of repair work and smithing on short notice. A specialty is made of rubber tires, these valuable accessories to easy riding being fitted to vehicles of all kinds.

MISS FANNIE B. ROGERS

BOOKER BAKERY.

Wholesale and Retail.—Phone 237.

Among the oldest and more substantial business concerns of the city is the Booker Bakery which has conducted a successful baking business here for more than 14 years. Eight years ago the establishment was moved into its present convenient location at No. 23 East 9th street, and the equipment modernized and expanded. A general wholesale and retail baking business in all its branches is conducted, the specialty being the famous "Booker Bread," which is distributed widely throughout the surrounding country. Bread, cakes, pies and confections of the most wholesome and appetizing kind, are produced in enormous quantities and have a wide reputation for their purity, freshness and general excellence. Prompt attention is given all orders and the delivery and shipping service is all that could be desired.

Since the death of Mr. D. M. Booker, two years ago, the business has been under the personal direction of Mrs. Booker, and her economical management has enabled her to keep selling prices at the lowest possible level, which interests both dealers and consumers during the present reign of high prices. To those who are not patrons of the Booker Bakery we would recommend that they give its products a fair trial, feeling sure that they will be found satisfactory in every detail.

McCLAID & ARMSTRONG.

Monuments and Stone Construction. Phone 490.

IDEAL MOTOR COMPANY
(Incorporated.)

Pleasure and Commercial Cars. Garage and Service Station.

The automobile glided swiftly from the luxury list into the class of modern necessities, and it is a question of short time until practically every family will own its pleasure car and every business establishment its motor delivery cars. Catering to this demand the Ideal Motor Company, (Incorporated), established its business here four years ago, and since then has distributed an enormous number of the better makes of pleasure and commercial automobiles. They are local representatives and distributors for some of the best known and most popular motors produced in this country, including the Buick, Studebaker and Winton. A modern garage and service station is operated at 208 North Main street, where a complete line of parts and accessories for the above makes are kept on hand and repairs made by a corps of expert automobile mechanics, headed by Mr. C. B. Thompson, a motor expert of long training and experience. Service can be secured here at any hour, night and day, by a call on phone 27, the firm making a specialty of prompt road service. The concern is under the management of Mr. Chas. R. Lewis, a prominent local business man of long experience in this line, and those who are contemplating the purchase of a car, for either pleasure or delivery purposes will profit by seeing him before placing their order. A complete showing of the cars handled by this company will be on display at the Fair. Don't fail to see them in the large tent at the rear of the grand stand.

Prussic Acid.

Prussic acid is so deadly that even the smell of the acid produces pain in the throat, and in the region of the heart. There are few poisons for which there is such little opportunity for an antidote. If there is time—and there seldom is—for the poison is almost instantaneous—ammonia inhaled very freely may give relief and reduce the absolute certainty of death to a grave probability.

WEST'S LOOSE FLOOR

(Incorporated.)

12th St., East of L. & N. Railroad.

One of the most popular Loose Floors with tobacco growers of this and adjoining counties is that conducted on 12th street, just east of the L. & N. railroad, and where an enormous amount of leaf is disposed of each season. The plant is scientifically constructed, affording the best of ventilation and light and has ample storage room and facilities. A strictly commission business is engaged in which has been conducted in such a straightforward manner that it has become universally known among loose leaf patrons as "The House of Service."

The concern is under the active management of such experienced tobacco men as James West, president and salesman; Hugh West, business manager, and John P. Prowse, Jr., secretary-treasurer. These gentlemen have a reputation of honesty and square-dealing among growers and dealers that is second to none, and their thorough acquaintance with the market places them in position to secure the best possible prices for their patrons. Especial preparations are being made to handle this year's big crop, and growers will make no mistake in marketing at West's Loose Floor.

HAMMOND & McDONALD

Overland and Hudson Super-Six—Garage and Service Station.

Those who buy the better kind of motor cars deal with the Hammond & McDonald Garage, which is the distributing agency throughout this section for the famous Hudson Super Six and the celebrated Overland cars, two of the largest selling and most satisfactory makes on the market today. Gent's Clothings and Furnishings.

For five years the Cray-Williamson Company has been one of the leaders in mercantile circles of the city, and at their handsomely furnished and well appointed sales rooms on 9th street near Main, is displayed a complete line of articles necessary for the correct dress of gentlemen. The store has made it an unvarying rule to handle only the best makes and quality of merchandise, including American Art Made-to-Measure Clothes, each suit guaranteed to fit and give satisfaction, and in their cases can be found the most widely known and popular brands of furnishings as Arrow shirts and collars, Stetson hats, Superior underwear, Omstein & Rice and Carter & Homes neckwear, the finest of fancy hosiery and a complete line of the best traveling bags and suit cases. The firm is composed of Mr. R. J. Cray and Mr. C. M. Williamson, who are ranked among the leading men and progressive citizens of the county. Both gentlemen devote their personal attention to the business and their pleasing personalities together with their square-dealing business methods are responsible for the fine patronage they enjoy. When in the market for clothing or furnishing goods you assure yourself of securing the best at the most reasonable prices, by shopping at the Cray-Williamson Co. store.

HENRY HURT

Livery and Board Stable.—Phone 333.

For the past 20 years Mr. Henry Hurt's name has been a familiar one in the livery circles and during that time he has established his reputation as a liveryman of experience and square-dealing business methods that extends throughout the country. Mr. Hurt's present establishment at the corner of 7th and Virginia streets came under his control in 1907 and he immediately enlarged and improved it and perfected a service system that has steadily gained in popularity and patronage.

The finest of horses and rigs are kept for hire at very reasonable rates and horses and stock are boarded and cared for in the best possible manner. Complete equipages are furnished for special occasions, such as funerals, weddings, etc., the service always giving complete satisfaction. When in need of livery service you will be well served if you make your wants known over phone 333.

R. S. AMBROSE

Lumber and Builders' Supplies.

One of the principal assets of the city and one whose activities enter many lines is the lumber and builders' supplies establishment conducted by Mr. R. S. Ambrose, located on 7th street, near the L. & N. railway. This gentleman operates a modern lumber plant and is prepared at all times to supply rough and dressed lumber in any quantity on short notice. But this is only one branch of the business. He carries in stock practically everything used in the construction of a modern home or business house, such as doors, windows, mantels, roofing, rubber roofing, cedar shingles, plaster and Portland cement, paints and oils, etc., estimates being promptly furnished on application. Mr. Ambrose is a business man of ability, unquestioned integrity and withal, a courteous gentleman in every sense of the word. It is a pleasure to us to be able to mention such an institution and such a worthy citizen in this business directory edition.

BARNES & METCALFE.

Dry Goods, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear and Shoes.—Telephone 91.

Although established here only two years ago the Barnes & Metcalfe store has rapidly taken rank among the most progressive and popular places of its kind in the county and has enjoyed a steadily increasing patronage and expansion since its inception. The store is located at a strategic point, No. 1 South Main street, and is well appointed and stocked with a complete and varied line of the best quality dry goods, ladies' ready-to-wear and furnishings, and a fine line of the better brands of shoes. Being one of a chain of stores of this kind, others being located at Beaver Dam, Central City and Earlington, enables this store to procure its stocks at most advantageous prices, the savings being passed on to their customers in the shape of better goods at lower rates than can be secured from the average store. The local store is under the personal management of Mr. W. E. Blawett, a business man of modern methods and training and a cultured and courteous gentleman who well understands the art of making friends of his patrons, and the success of the place is due in no small degree to his methods and pleasing personality.

P. J. BRESLIN

Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Confections.—Phone 614-L.

The handsome confectionery located on Sixth street and conducted by Mr. P. J. Breslin, is one of the most complete establishments of its kind to be found in the city and is enjoying a steadily increasing patronage, due to the excellence of the products handled and the courteous method of treating customers. A varied line of the best and freshest of fancy groceries, foreign and domestic fruits, cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos are handled and the store makes a specialty of fine candies which they manufacture from the purest of ingredients and in the most sanitary manner known to the candy-making art. In connection a modern soda fountain is operated at which can be obtained all the popular soft drinks and ices.

Mr. Breslin, the accommodating proprietor, is one of the city's best known business men; he has conducted his present business here for the past three years during which time it has gained a wide reputation for honest goods at the lowest possible prices, and its proprietor has made a fine circle of friends and acquaintances among the buying public. When in need of anything in the various lines handled here you will make no mistake in giving Mr. Breslin a share of your patronage.

W. A. CHAMBERS & COMPANY.

Incorporated

Wholesale Grocers.

For fourteen years the local branch of the W. A. Chambers Company has been a substantial pillar in the jobbing and wholesale interests of the county, during which time the satisfactory services they have rendered have resulted in a steadily increasing business over a widening territory. A general wholesale and jobbing business in staple and fancy groceries, field seeds, meat products, produce, etc., is conducted, two men being kept constantly on the road in the interest of the house and a force of seven employed in the sales and storage rooms attending to the prompt shipment of orders which come in great volume from all over the surrounding territory.

The W. A. Chambers Company also operates establishments at Nashville, Springfield, Clarksville and Dickson, Tenn., and at Russellville, Ky. Mr. W. A. Chambers, president and general head of the business being a resident of Nashville. The prosperous branch here is under the able management of Mr. John A. Clements, one of the leading citizens of the city, who enjoys the confidence and esteem of all who know him. He is personally in charge of the business at all times and brings to it all the social courtesies and personality and ability being responsible in large measure for the success the institution enjoys.

COWHERD & ATSHELER

MULE COMPANY

Live Stock Dealers.

Conducting a business that has come into greater usefulness and demand since the entrance of this country into war, Messrs. Cowherd and Atsheler are in position to serve their country in a very important manner and to bring to that service the experience and training of years devoted to the handling and study of mules and horses. As is well known the government is now in the market for thousands of head of horses and mules for use in the national army, and the above firm is handling the business in this section of Kentucky and Western Tennessee having a contract with the government covering this territory. New contracts are to be let September 1 and they expect to secure even larger territory.

These gentlemen are always in the market for live stock of all kinds and are always ready to buy, sell or exchange. If you have horses or mules for sale now is the time to call upon this enterprising firm, or if you are in the market for an animal or any kind it is very probable that they have just what you want. Both Mr. Cowherd and Mr. Atsheler are courteous and pleasant business gentlemen and will be glad to give you the benefit of their advice and experience in matters concerning the buying or selling of stock.

ELLIS ICE & COAL CO.

Incorporated

Wholesale and Retail Ice and Coal.

At the corner of Railroad and Eleventh streets is to be found the modern ice manufacturing plant operated by the above company, an industrial establishment that means much to the city. The plant was established in 1888 and has been kept abreast of the growth of the city by the addition of new machinery and devices until today it is one of the best of its kind in this section of the country with a capacity of 50 tons of ice daily. Both a wholesale and retail ice business is conducted, the local trade being served direct from the company's wagons, while an immense quantities are shipped to distant points. The product is made from the purest of distilled water and handled in a sanitary and cleanly manner. Forty well paid workmen and 14 teams are employed and the payroll alone is one of the chief assets of local business. In connection with the ice business the best grades of steam and domestic coal are handled at both wholesale and retail prices, a call on phone 43 bringing prompt delivery service. The officers and directing spirits of the concern are rated as among the leading business men of the county, and include Mr. Lee Ellis, President, and Mr. Louis Ellis, general manager the latter is in charge of the business and his courteous manner of dealing with the trade, together with his long business experience and efficiency accounts in no small degree for the success and prosperity that the firm has enjoyed.

HUGH MESHANE

Plumbing and Heating Contractor. Phone 950.

For the past 12 years Hopkinsville has had the advantage of modern plumbing as installed by Mr. Hugh McShane, a master of the trade in every sense of the word and a gentleman of excellent business judgment as well. Mr. McShane does a general line of plumbing and repair work and in addition installs hot water heating plants of the better kind. In his large shop at the corner of 10th and Liberty streets, is to be found a complete line of plumbing and heating supplies and he is ready to give estimates on jobs, large or small, and to execute work in the promptest and most efficient manner and at reasonable prices. A number of first-class mechanics are employed and every piece of work undertaken is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. When in need of plumbing or heating of any kind you will make no mistake in calling on this excellent firm, the manager of which is a courteous and affable man with whom it is a pleasure to do business.

RICHARD LEAVELL

Dealer in Horses and Mules.—Phone No. 227.

For the past 15 years Mr. Leavell has conducted his stock dealing establishment here, during the whole of which time he has enjoyed the confidence and patronage of the public and has built up a reputation for honest methods and a square-dealing policy that is one of the chief assets of his business. His commodious and well kept barns and yards are located on East Ninth street, where a fine line of choice animals are always to be seen and where horses and mules can be sold, purchased or exchanged at all times. It is a pleasure to do business of this nature with a dealer upon whom you can rely and when in the market either to buy or sell stock, you will profit by visiting Mr. Leavell's place.

HOTEL LATHAM.

A. D. Nee & Son, Proprietors.

There is nothing that adds to the standing of the town more than good hotels. Towns receive their advertisement to a big degree from the traveling people, and usually the traveling man receives his lasting impression of a town from the place he has to stop at while in it. It stands to reason that good hotels are a city's best asset, and Hopkinsville is indeed fortunate in having the Hotel Latham, as up-to-date hostelry as can be found in any town of this size in the country. The Latham is splendidly located, occupying a square near the court house and in the central part of the city; it is a modern brick structure of many spacious and comfortable rooms and the dining service has the reputation of being among the best in the state. The hotel is under the active management of Messrs. A. D. Nee, Sr., and son, A. D. Jr., both hotel men of long experience and possessed of excellent business ability. They are recognized as among the leading business men of the city, being interested in a number of our progressive and successful enterprises. They are courteous gentlemen of a very pleasing personality, which accounts in a large degree for their business success and for the phenomenal success of the Latham under their management. Messrs. C. W. Hollman and Ray Turner are the accommodating clerks of the establishment and are both excellent gentlemen. When in Hopkinsville you can make no mistake in stopping at the Latham Hotel.

PEMBROKE

Pembroke, the distributing center for the southern section of the county, is a beautiful little city, situated on the L. & N. railway. It has fine stores and located on well kept streets, a prosperous bank, nice churches, the best of schools, a good hotel, milling industries, and is the home of a prosperous and hospitable people. The town was founded by R. C. Jameson in 1848, he being a prominent farmer of that vicinity, a big dealer in tobacco and the first postmaster of Pembroke. The city enjoys the advantages of a fine railway service, both in freight and passenger traffic and is the buying center for a considerable adjacent territory. The business interests of the town are in the hands of progressive and hustling people and its continuous prosperity is assured.

THE BANK OF PEMBROKE

Capital $20,000.—Resources $161,247.86

The Bank of Pembroke, established in 1900, has rapidly grown in influence, scope and in the confidence of the public until it is now one of the sound and staid institutions of its nature in this section of the state.

It has shown marked enterprise in constructive banking, energy in rendering service, an ambition to be a useful asset of the community, and a thorough knowledge of the needs and wants of the people of the county. It has won the attention and respect of the business world and the highest esteem and confidence of the people of this section. The bank is capitalized at $20,000, to which has been added an honestly earned surplus fund of $5,000, this amount furnishing ample capital for its large financial affairs, and its deposits of $135,000.00 shows the confidence reposed in the institution by the people of Christian county. The bank has paid in dividends during the 17 years of its existence $20,400; its growth for the past few years is shown in its statements; that of 1914 listing total resources as $86,000, and deposits of $42,000; the 1916 statement, resources of $123,467.00, and the statement of June 30, of this year, resources of $161,247.86, and deposits of $135,150.12. The steady growth of the Bank of Pembroke is due in large measure to the high standing and sterling character of its officers and directors, who are among the leading and successful business men of the county, including such well known names as M. L. Levy, president; Jno. P. Gernett, R. A. Elgin, E. F. Griffin, directors. Mr. Douglas Graham, cashier and active head of the institution, is a financier of the modern school—a man who recognizes the partnership existing between the bank and the people who patronize it and who strengthens the bonds that exist between the two by the constant exercise of courteous efficiency and the service that serves the best. With these ends in view an institution has been built, which is dependable always, constantly fair and whose every action is based upon candor, kindness, courage and judgment. Under the exercise of these methods the Bank of Pembroke will continue to be the most useful and appreciated factor in the affairs of Christian county, and enjoy an ever growing and well merited success.

R. W. WAKEFIELD

Garage and Service Station.

The motorist finds in Pembroke an up-to-date garage and service station in the establishment conducted by R. W. Wakefield, and where a complete line of tires, parts and accessories are carried in stock and a service station maintained at which repairs and service is rendered by expert automobile mechanics, and oils, gasoline and necessities and supplies can be purchased at the lowest possible prices. In connection with the business a taxi system is operated where cars can be secured for trips to any part of the county, operated by careful drivers and at reasonable rates.

Mr. Wakefield, the proprietor, is a well known business man, and has a wide reputation for honesty and square-cut business methods, and enjoys a wide acquaintance among the motorists of this section. His place is the recipient of a steadily growing patronage and we predict for him a continuous future success.

H. FRIEDMAN.

General Merchandise, Groceries and Fresh Meats.—Phone 68.

A most complete general store is that conducted by Mr. Friedman, conveniently located and housed in a spacious and well arranged building, which is stocked with a complete and varied assortment of general merchandise, a specialty being made of staple and fancy groceries of the best brands, fresh country produce, fruits and vegetables; a fresh meat department is conducted in which may be obtained at all times the finest cuts of prime beef, juicy steaks, chop, etc., together with oysters, game and fish in season, these products being handled in the most scientific and sanitary manner and guaranteed at all times to be in the best possible condition. The Friedman establishment has a wide reputation for the excellence of its goods and service, and the advantageous prices quoted.

Mr. Friedman, the genial proprietor, is a man of long experience in merchandising and since opening his present business here in 1913 has enjoyed a steadily increasing patronage, due as much to his pleasing personality as to the fine service rendered. If you are not already a patron of the Friedman store you will profit by forming business connections with this modern place.

MISS ALICE KENDALL

Millinery and Ladies' Wear.

One of the most popular shopping centers with the ladies of Pembroke and vicinity is the neat and attractive millinery and notion emporium conducted by Miss Alice Kendall, who has been in the business here for two years, during which time she has been the recipient of a steadily growing patronage. A complete showing of the latest styles in millinery is always on display here and hats are fitted by expert milliners and designers and certain to please even those of the most fastidious tastes.

In connection with the business a nice line of ready-to-wear garments are shown, modeled in the latest styles and made from the best quality fabrics, as well as a fine line of dainty lingerie and furnishing goods, children's dresses, etc., all of which are disposed of at the lowest possible prices. Miss Kendall, who is in active charge of the business at all times, is a milliner of long practical experience and the service she renders is thoroughly appreciated by the ladies of this vicinity as is evidenced by her growing trade and wide popularity.

O'BRIEN & ROSE

Grocers.—Phone 58.

One of the most complete stocks of staple and fancy groceries, canned and bottled goods, fresh country produce, fruits and vegetables to be found in the city always awaits the buying public at the modern establishment conducted by O'Brien & Rose, which has been successfully operated here since 1912. In addition to groceries, etc., a nice line of household articles, fruits, jars and canning necessities are carried, and the firm is famous over a large area for the reasonableness of its prices and the general excellence of its service.

The business is owned by Mr. McD. O'Brien and Mr. D. L. Rose, who give it their personal attention; both are courteous business gentlemen of long experience in their chosen line, and enjoy a wide acquaintanceship among the people of the entire county. That the service they render the public is appreciated is proven by the fact that their patronage steadily increases, and we predict for them a continuous success.

WHITLOW & ROAM

Dry Goods and Groceries.

Phone 56.

Although established only last January, the handsome store of Whitlow & Roam appeared to fill a long-felt need and has enjoyed a fine measure of success. A complete and varied stock of the best quality dry goods, furnishings and notions are carried in stock, and a specialty is made of the grocery department, in which can be found at all times a full line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh country produce, fruits and vegetables, cigars and tobacco, candies and confections, all of which are offered at the most reasonable prices. The business is owned and personally conducted by F. D. Whitlow and Mr. A. R. Roam, two business people of experience and ability, who maintain a service that is thoroughly appreciated by the public. They are fine types of the straight-forward, progressive citizenship for which the county is widely known, and well merit the success they enjoy.

R. ROSS WOOD

Pharmacist.—Phone 17.

"THE REXALL STORE."

"The store of Quality" is the term by which the public usually designates the drug establishment conducted by R. Ross Wood, who has been in that business here continuously for the past 22 years, and that he has prospered and his patronage steadily increased during all those years is proof conclusive that the services rendered the public have been of the most satisfactory nature and duly appreciated. The store is one of the handsomest of its kind in the county, being beautifully furnished, well appointed and stocked with a complete line of the purest and best drugs and chemicals, all the popular proprietary remedies, a fine line of toilet articles and fancy goods, stationery, and the finest of candies and confections, cameras and films of all makes. A soda fountain is operated in connection serving the purest of popular soft drinks and ices, the service being perfect in every detail.

Mr. Wood, the courteous and affable proprietor, is a pharmacist of long experience, and gives his personal attention to the compounding of prescriptions, their accurate and careful handling being a specialty. He is rated as among the most prominent and successful business men of the county, has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, and is a progressive citizen who well deserves the and successful business men of the store where quality is paramount.

HARRIS BROTHERS

Fresh Meats and Groceries.
Phone 21.

For 23 years the popular firm of Harris Brothers has rendered a prompt and satisfactory service to the local public, and have by their general business ability and excellent methods built up a fine patronage and a reputation for square-cut business methods that is known the county over. A complete line of staple and fancy groceries, country produce, etc., is always in stock, and special attention is given to the fresh meat department, which is equipped in the most modern manner for the sanitary handling and distribution of the choicest products, which are disposed of at the lowest possible prices consistent with the best quality. Telephone orders are solicited and given prompt attention, an efficient delivery service being maintained. A nice line of queensware, glassware, enamel ware and tinware, is also kept in stock.

Messrs. H. A. and T. D. Harris, the proprietors, are among the county's best known business men and highly esteemed as progressive and useful citizens. When in the market for groceries, fresh meats, or any of the articles to be found in their varied stock, you will profit by calling at their modern store.

J. A. ROAM & COMPANY

Country Produce, Coal, Feed and Building Materials.—
Phone 33.

One of the later business concerns of Pembroke is the establishment of J. A. Roam & Co., which first began business here July 1st, and has seemed to have filled a long felt need as the patronage has been phenomenal from the very inception of the place and is steadily increasing. At their large and commodious store rooms is always to be found a varied line of country produce, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables. They make a specialty of the better grades of building materials and supplies which are offered at very advantageous prices. In connection with the business a junk department is operated which provides a ready market for hides, roots and all kinds of junk at the best market prices.

The company is composed of Mr. J. A. Roam and Mr. Q. F. Combs, two gentlemen of long experience in merchandising and high standing in the business world. Their reputation for honest and square-dealing business methods are country-wide, and when in need of any of the many articles they handle or the efficient service they render you will make no mistake in giving them a share of your patronage.

L. P. MILLER

Drugs, Sundries, Stationery, Etc.
Phone 24.

Since 1891 the L. P. Miller establishment has been a favorite resort with the people of this section and the place has steadily increased in patronage, the business having been expanded and kept abreast of the times in the most approved manner. In the well arranged store room is to be found a complete line of drugs, chemicals, proprietary remedies, toilet articles, cigars, tobaccos, and a nice line of stationery, office and school supplies. A soda fountain and ice cream parlor is conducted in connection with the business, where all the popular soft drinks and ices are

CROFTON

Crofton, one of the prettiest little cities of this section and the distributing center for north end of Christian county, was founded in the earlier sixties by J. E. Croft, who built the first residence there and later established a general store, a business which has continued until today. In 1871 the town was chartered, laid out into town lots by Mr. Croft, who built many of the first residences, erected a mill and promoted several other industries; at the time of its incorporation the little city had a population of 300 people. The place has had a steady growth and today a tremendous volume of business is transacted there. It has a modern bank, a fine system of the best schools, good hotels, the churches and fraternal orders are well represented, and its people are contented, happy and prosperous. Crofton, with its splendid location, on the L. & N. railway, in the heart of one of the best farming districts in this end of the state, has a bright future before it, and with its affairs in the hands of such progressive citizens as those who now direct its destinies, its continuous progress is assured.

M. A. BROWN

General Merchandise.

The nice business establishment conducted by Mr. M. A. Brown fills an important niche in the business life of the city and is a popular place with the general buying public. A complete line of general merchandise and notions of the better kinds is handled on which the most interesting prices are quoted. In connection with the business a modern confectionery department is maintained, stocked with the best of fine candies, cakes and fancy articles and also containing a modern soda fountain at which all the popular soft drinks and ices are served, and is extremely popular, especially with the younger folks of the vicinity.

Mr. Brown, who gives the business his personal attention, is a courteous and pleasing gentleman, which accounts in large measure for the fine degree of appreciation shown his place and the steadily increasing patronage he enjoys.

BROWN & MYERS.

General Merchandise and Hardware.
Phone 58-2.

A concern that furnishes a service of inestimable value to the city and surrounding country is that established here in 1908 by J. W. Brown and that it has been appreciated by the public is proven by the steadily increasing patronage it has enjoyed since its inception. The business has been kept abreast of or a little ahead of the growing demands made upon it and is today one of the most complete institutions of its kind to be found in the county, carrying in stock at all times a varied line of general merchandise including the best and purest of staple and fancy groceries, but making a specialty of heavy and shelf hardware, harness, window glass, roofing materials, paints and oils, stoves, ranges, china, glass and tin ware, garden and field seeds, fertilizer, and in fact everything needed in or about the home or farm, all of which are disposed of at the lowest prices the market affords.

The proprietors, Mr. W. R. Brown and Mr. W. Myers, two of the town's best known citizens, give the business their personal attention and the reputation they have established throughout the county for honest and square-dealing business methods, is responsible in no small measure for their ever-increasing volume of patronage.

BANK OF CROFTON.

Capital $15,000. Surplus, $20,000.

The true barometer of a county's progress is the condition of its financial institutions. Where a bank flourishes and its deposits grow from year to year, you always find a thrifty, prosperous and contented citizenry. Christian county is noted for the soundness and progressiveness of its banking institutions, none of which stand higher in the esteem of the general public and the confidence of the financial world than the Bank of Crofton, which was established in the hustling town of Crofton in 1904 and during the seventeen years of its existence has shown a continuous and steady growth and exerted a wonder-served, the fountain being very popular with all classes. A specialty is made of physicians' prescriptions, their compounding being in the hands of graduate pharmacists of long experience and excellent ability, their accuracy and thoroughness never failing of satisfaction.

Mr. L. P. Miller, the proprietor, is one of the successful and prosperous business men of the city, having during his long and honorable career, built up a reputation for fairness and generosity that is responsible in no small degree for his flattering success. Miss Pearl Rawlins, the efficient lady attendant, is a valuable asset to the store, whose services are thoroughly appreciated by both the proprietor and his many patrons.

ful influence for good on the business life of community. The bank began business in a small way, opening with the small sum of $48,000 in deposits at the close of the first year, and that it has found favor with the public is evidenced by the figures of its last statement which show a surplus fund of $20,000 and undivided profits of $2,500, and deposits to the amount of nearly two hundred thousand dollars and total resources of $233,638.59. It is located in its own beautiful building, which is even at this writing undergoing enlargement and improvement to take care of the rapidly growing business, and a beautiful plate glass and white stone front is being added that will add immeasurably to its architectural beauty.

The phenomenal growth of the Bank of Crofton is accounted for in a large measure by the sterling character of the men who founded it and brought the institution to its present state of prosperity and usefulness, every one of whom stands high in the business and social circles of the county. These gentlemen include such well known names as O. A. West, president; R. W. Trotter, vice president; S. H. Williams, vice president; W. E. Keith, cashier, and B. E. Brown, assistant cashier; W. D. Bowles, A. C. Brasher, J. H. Myers, directors.

The bank is capitalized at $15,000, this capital being supplemented by a surplus fund of $20,000, which furnishes abundant capital for its large operations. A general banking business in all its branches is conducted, including a modern saving department which pays three per cent on deposits with the public. When people of the Crofton country are in need of financial advice or any of the services rendered by a first class institution of this nature, they have no hesitancy in calling at the Crofton Bank, with the certain conviction that they will receive the most courteous attention that experienced bankers of ability can render.

J. C. BOWLING

Staple and Fancy Groceries.
—Country Produce.

Thirty-two years of continuous, successful business speaks more forcibly than we can hope to of the satisfactory service the establishment founded and conducted by Mr. J. C. Bowling has given the public, and of the esteem in which the proprietor is held by his fellows. Mr. Bowling has the distinction of conducting the oldest grocery in the town of Crofton. But the business itself, though old, has been kept abreast of the times, and is today as modern an establishment of its kind as can be found in any town of this size anywhere. A general line of staple and fancy groceries, country produce, etc., is always on hand, and the proprietor's long experience in buying and his thorough acquaintance with the markets, places him in position to make advantageous prices on his wares.

Mr. Bowling is one of the oldest and best known of Christian county business men, having a wide circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county who appreciate him for his many admirable qualities and sterling citizenship. He has been very successful from a material standpoint, owns the property where his business is located and is financially interested in many of the county's commercial enterprises, and is a gentleman whose acquaintance is bound to prove profitable to anyone.

Mr. R. F. Hight, one of the county's best known and prosperous farmers, recently opened a milling business in Crofton, the first of the present year, specializing in a fine grade of sifted meal which has become popular under the name of "Sweet Home Meal," the business becoming so popular and the demand for the products so heavy that an immediate increase of the capacity must be provided for. Mr. Hight is now preparing for the erection of a modern and complete mill building which will be equipped with the latest machinery and appliances and capable of handling an immense volume of trade. The famous "Sweet Home Meal" will be produced in quantities to supply the growing demand, and other corn products, such as crushed and cracked corn, and feed stuffs will be given special attention. The new business will be a decided asset to the commercial interests of the town and under the experienced and capable direction of Mr. Hight is bound to enjoy a continuous growth and prosperity.

J. Y. CRABTREE.

Funeral Director and Embalmer.
—Phones 37-3 and 37-2.

It was Hopkins county's loss when Christian county's gain when of the Y. Crabtree, the subject of this obituary notice, who was born in the former county, decided to cast his lot with the suppression of the town of Crofton, and he remained in that town to such a degree that he was regarded as one of its best citizens. Mr. Crabtree is by profession a funeral director and embalmer, being admirably fitted for the duties of that profession by his long experience and natural aptitude and any call for his services will be answered in the most approved and satisfactory manner. He also represents some of the pre-eminent insurance companies of the country, writing policies covering fire, lightning, tornado and theft, as well as life policies in the best old line companies. Mr. Crabtree's life has been an interesting and useful one, and his German vices to his fellows have been evidenced by the Reed's, the success he has achieved in Hale Thompson's home, the building of the business is located, or Gerard, Secretary of the county, and other enterprises of the county last fine type of success, the cowardly and pusillanimous of whom the world is full.
